SEVENTY-ONE OF OHIO COUNTY'S QUOTA NOW AT CAMP "ZAC" TAYLOR

Large Crowd at Depot to Say "Good-Bye, Good Luck, Boys!"

ENTERTAINED FRIDAY NIGHT

By Good People of Hartford as Best They Knew How and Appreciated It, Too.

There was a crowd of several hundred people at the depot Saturday morning at 8:45 o'clock to say "good-bye—God bless you, boys," when a special car attached to the regular train pulled out, bearing seventy-one of Ohio county's first quota to Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville. They were seventy-one of as fine young men as ever answered the country's call in time of war, and go to Louisville camp to go in training preparatory to entering the fight for honor, home and the supremacy of our land.

Parents, wives and sweethearts sobbed aloud as County Clerk Claude Blankenship mounted the steps of the car and begun calling the names of those who will first represent Ohio county in this great world conflict. Some of the boys going were also visibly affected, while others seemed to be in a happy frame of mind and looked upon their entering the world struggle against Prussianism with extreme satisfaction.

The roll of the first seventy-one to go was called at the exemption headquarters Friday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, and all answered present with the exception of possibly half a dozen.

After roll call there the boys were escorted to the Commercial Hotel where the good people of Hartford had ordered for them an excellent meal. After supper they assembled at the court house where, in a few well-chosen words, Judge James S. Glenn and County Attorney A. D. Kirk bade them God speed and assured them that those of us left behind would ever have them uppermost in our mind, heart and prayers, and that they were entering this struggle for world-supremacy as Ohio county, Kentucky soldiers and to uphold the records of the county and State for brave and gallant soldiers while in the service of Uncle Sam.

Immediately after the short exercises at the court house, the boys were escorted to the Star Theater and admitted to the picture show free through the courtesy of Messrs. Heavrin and Barrass.

After the show the young men were conducted to various homes in the city where, through the generosity and patriotism of our citizenry, they were kept over night and given breakfast the next morning.

Some of the boys suggested that some one of the men in the draft should say a few words in appreciation of the manner in which the Hartford people had entertained them, but those in charge said the good people of Hartford were only too glad to do all they could for the boys leaving for the training camp, as they were going to fight the battles of honor of our homes and nation while we remained behind.

Sheriff S. O. Keown, chairman of the local exemption board, exerted every effort to get the boys off to a good start, and succeeded in doing so—everything going off without a hitch.

The committee of young ladies, consisting of Misses Lella Glenn, Maggie Marks, Elizabeth Moore and Cliffo Felix, who were called upon to secure lodging for the young men, did their work admirably, and succeeded in securing more homes than were really needed.

The third man in the list called in the first quota was Earl Felix Miller, of Olaton, who was teaching school at Stone, Pike county. Mr. Miller had just 15 minutes to catch his train after receiving the notice to report, and after a journey of more than 400 miles reached Hartford just in time to answer "here" when Mr. Blankenship called the roll at the train.

BOYS OF COMPANY H ROUNDING INTO FORM

In a letter from Capt. Allison Barnett, of Co. H, he informs the editor that the boys are rounding into form, and "that men who two months ago who had never seen an army rifle and now presenting the appearance of veterans."

He says "the Third has been digging trenches for the past several days and has now passed to the grenade throwing." Capt. Barnett says this grenade throwing is very hazardous, and one must be the possessor of nerve, etc., to belong to the grenade throwing brigade.

"Since getting into training and studying I find this war to be more horrible than even the most lady-like civilian imagines," says the captain, and "if Sherman could have seen the modern methods he would have been 'cussing' yet."

They are expecting orders to be off to Hattiesburg every day, says Capt. Barnett, and there are rumors that the Third is to be "busted up" and the units formed into other branches of the service, but that is problematical.

HERALD GIVES FIFTEEN TICKETS TO THE FAIR

Fifteen Will See Fair at Our Expense—See Page Eight
For Particulars.

The Hartford Herald has made arrangements whereby it will give fifteen tickets to the Ohio County Fair. These tickets are good for admission to the fair grounds Friday, Sept. 28, only.

See page eight for the plan, and get busy for it will be a matter of expediency as to who the fifteen are to see the fair Friday at our expense.

Five people in the city of Hartford will get to go to the fair on these tickets and ten of our friends in the country will do likewise, so it is up to you to get a hustle on.

The progressive business men whose ads appear on page 8 made it possible for us to give these tickets, and you should remember them when in need of anything in their line.

You will have to hurry, or some one else will "beat you to it."

TO GIVE UP BELGIUM.

This is Said to Have Been Decided on by Germany.

Amsterdam.—In connection with the report published in the Tages Zeitung, that Germany had decided to abandon all claims to Belgium, the Koelnische Volks Zeitung says:

"We have received similar information that last week a decision about Belgium was reached in conformity with the English views."

Mathias Erzberger, a Clerical Center member of the Reichstag, speaking at Biberach on Sunday, said: "The foundation of peace must be no conquests of any kind. We are advancing with long strides toward such a peace—peace built upon the basis of the Reichstag peace resolution."

"DESPOTISM DOOMED."

London.—The Chronicle in a leading editorial under the head, "Despotism Doomed," says:

"In Germany just now evidently by preconcerted arrangement, resolutions are being passed by all sorts of organizations attacking the American President for his scathing strictures on automatic power in Germany, which planned this war and in its prosecution has 'stopped at no barrier, either of law or mercy.' * * * This tremendous indictment evidently made a deep impression in Germany. Hence these inspired resolutions or protests, hence the Kaiser's message published today. * * * And Hindenburg's contemptuous allusion to the American President. * * * These engineered German protests against President Wilson's powerful indictment prove that the Kaiser, his junkers and the military caste, know the stream of the tendency against them."

INCREASE IN WATER AND LIGHT RATES AFTER OCTOBER FIRST

The high prices of everything connected with the making of lights and the pumping of water necessitates our raising the minimum rate for lights from $1 to $1.25 and the minimum water rate from $1 to $1.25, and where tub is used, from $1.75 to $1.85.

Coal is now costing us $600 per year more than it ever has before, and lubricating oils, packing, copper wire, etc., have doubled in price. Therefore we are compelled to make these new rates.

All bills must be paid promptly on or before the 15th of the month or water and lights will be turned off without notice.

All outstanding accounts, bills that are in arrears, must be settled by the 15th of next month or the water and lights must of necessity be discontinued. Please govern yourself accordingly.

KENTUCKY LIGHT & POWER CO., Incorporated Hartford, Kentucky.

Mr. Isaac Foster, who is engaged in the contracting business at Centertown, is at home to visit his family and attend the fair.

Deputy Sheriff R. F. Keown went to Eddyville Saturday to take Walter Brown, colored, who was sent up from this county for grand larceny.

DIES FROM INJURY SUS- TAINED FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. William Wilkins, of Olaton, Passes Away Friday Night
—Leaves Wife.

Injuries sustained while at work in the Oolitic granite quarries in Indiana, about five years ago, proved fatal to Mr. Wm. Wilkins, about 50 years old, Friday night at his home at Olaton. The injury sustained by Mr. Wilkins resulted in a growth of some kind on his collar bone, which broke, resulting in his death.

Mr. Wilkins was married and his wife, who was away from home, reached his bedside just before he died. He was born at Ashville, N. C., but was principally raised in Tennessee. His funeral was preached at the Baptist church by Rev. Marion Farris, after which his remains were buried in the Olaton cemetery.

OCTOBER ILLITERACY ACY CAMPAIGN

The teachers and citizens of Kentucky are to make a great drive against illiteracy during the month of October in an effort to teach twenty thousand during that time to read and write.

Sunday Schools of the State have been asked to co-operate. Sunday, October 7th, has been designated as the day when all Sunday Schools in the State will have a program devoted to the subject of illiteracy in Kentucky and how to eradicate it. Letters from moonlight pupils who are rejoiced over being able to read their Bibles, will be read.

RACING GALORE

At Ohio County Fair This Week
and Good Horses to Compete for Purse.

Every stall at the Fair Grounds is occupied with either a running, trotting or pacing horse, and beginning today the people of this and surrounding counties will be afforded four days of racing par excellence by the Ohio County Fair Company.

Never before in the history of the fair company has there been such an array of racing talent gotten together to compete for the purses hung up in the running, trotting and pacing races, and the devotees of this sport are assured their "money's worth."

The racing is only one feature of the fair, as a peep at the agricultural and floral hall exhibits is well worth the price of admission, to say nothing of the excellent array of stock the special premiums offered by Hartford business men will bring to the show rings.

Indications now point to one of the most successful meets ever held in Ohio county, and the officials are making arrangements to handle the large crowds that are expected to attend each day.

The price of admission this year will be 35c to adults and 25c to children, and one ticket admits to everything.

THREE OHIO COUNTY PHYSICIANS TO REPORT TO TRAINING CAMPS

Three Ohio county physicians have been notified to report to training camps where they will take up their duties in the Officers' Medical Reserve Corps.

Dr. Riley and Dr. DeWitt, who have been commissioned Lieutenants will go to Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., next Wednesday, to take up their work, and Dr. Ford, who ranks as Captain, goes to Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., for active duty. Dr. Ford will leave in the next few days.

LOST TOBACCO BARN.

Baynham & Tandy, of Edgoteh, lost a barn filled with tobacco early Wednesday morning. The tobacco was being fired at the time and caught from the fires being used to cure it. It was a share crop with Lewis Meacham which had grown on twenty acres of ground and was valued at about $2,500. The barn was valued at about $500 more. There was no insurance.—Hopkinsville New Era.

CHRISTIAN SOLDIER DIES IN LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky.—The first officer to die at Camp Stanley was Second Lieut. Cecil P. Armstrong, of Company D, Third Regiment, who died at St. Joseph's Hospital of appendicitis and complications. Lieut. Armstrong was a native of Hopkinsville, where Company D was organized, and his body was taken there this afternoon after a military funeral in Lexington. A squad of soldiers from the platoon accompanied the body. Since the departure of Maj. Jackson Morris, for Hattiesburg, Lieut. Armstrong had been camp quartermaster.

MOB ATTACKS JAIL TO CAPTURE NEGRO

Raleigh, N. C.—A mob of several hundred men attacked the jail here in an attempt to lynch a negro named Neville accused of attacking the wife of a street car conductor but before the jail could be entered, Gov. Bickett and Adj. Gen. Young arrived. While the Governor addressed a portion of the crowd a masked leader was urging the greater portion to batter down the jail doors. Fifteen shots were fired before the State officials arrived but apparently no one was injured.

HEAVY MORTALITY IN GERMAN PRISON CAMPS

Paris.—Albert Champion, a French soldier, who, on his third attempt, has just escaped from Germany, brings the information, according to the Paris edition of the New York Herald, that 3,700 French and British soldiers and 1,500 Russians have died of typhus at the German concentration camp at Cassel, ninety miles northeast of Frankfurt-on-the-Main.

BAKER HELD FOR THREAT TO POISON U. S. ARMY

Chicago.—Carl Reiger, 28 years old, a haker subject to service in the United States army, is being held by Government officers here, charged with having uttered a threat to poison the entire United States army.

According to witnesses, Reiger recently in the course of an argument on the subject of conscription said if he were drafted he would serve as a baker and put poison in all the bread he made.

"SOME" SUNFLOWER.

It is not very often that one editor brings in something out of the ordinary into another editor's sanctum and thereby gets his name in the paper, but this is what Editor Wilbur Tinsley did last week when he showed us one of the largest sunflowers we have ever seen. The flower measured 48 inches in circumference and 18 inches across the blossom and was fully developed in every way the rows of seed being so evenly distributed that it looked as though it might have been artificial instead of the work of nature.

Mrs. Harrel was 57 years old at the time of her death and is survived by her husband, Mr. J. B. Harrel, of Central City, two daughters, Mrs. Mattie Schroeter and Mrs. Kyle Hunter, and one son, Mr. Cleve Harrel, of Martwick, Ky.

Well Known Jurist Decides to Enter the Race.

16 COUNTIES IN THE DISTRICT

State Papers Have Expressed
Favorable Comments
Already.

The Henderson Gleaner, Judge Henson's home paper, has this to say of his candidacy:

Hon. J. W. Henson will make the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals for the Second district.

This announcement of great importance to the people of sixteen counties in Western Kentucky, is duly authorized by Judge Henson himself, and it goes without saying that this will be a piece of political news of general State interest.

The official announcement from Judge Henson does not come until favorable expression to the Henderson man had been made by practically every newspaper in the district, not excepting newspapers in Judge Settle's portion of the district. Mr. Settle is the present judge and he seeks a third term at the hands of the voters of this district. Without impugning the ability or efficiency of Judge Settle, leaders in the several counties of the district take the position that there are other good men in the Second district who should not die of old age waiting for a chance for recognition.

These men have turned to Judge J. W. Henson, of Henderson, in recognition of a distinguished and spotless record on the circuit bench and Judge Henson has decided to make the race only after repeated personal and published assurances of support.

Clean and Able.

Few men stand higher in Kentucky than J. W. Henson. Farm-raised, self-educated and self-achieving, none begrudge him the success that he has already achieved and all will meet his announcement with "Sure, Judge, we're for you. It's coming to you."

Twelve years Judge Henson served the good people of this circuit. How well? Well enough that when his first term expired he was re-elected without opposition in primary or election. His popularity was not with one class but with all classes, for he held the scales of justice fairly and delicately balanced between capital and labor.

He comes before the Democratic voters now in the full prime of life—54 years—neither retired nor an office-seeker, but the active partner of one of the strongest law firms in Kentucky—Henson & Taylor.

Hard work and grave responsibilities have not kept Judge Henson from doing his bit as friend and neighbor, as will be certified by the records of such lodges as the Masons, Woodmen, Elks and Knights of Pythias, where he is a respected and active member.

Judge Henson is a time-tried and fire-tested Democrat. He is thoroughly grounded in the tenets of the great Democratic party and knows how to convince others that the Democratic party is THE party. His splendid education, his natural ability as a speaker, his Christian character, his poise of mind and morals make him pre-eminently the candidate to meet the call of the people for an able man to succeed Judge Settle, who has held the place for sixteen years, besides having the office of circuit judge for 12 years, making 28 years in office.

The counties of the district over which J. W. Henson will be elected to preside are Daviess, Henderson, McLean, Hancock, Ohio, Breckenridge, Meade, Grayson, Butler, Edmonson, Warren, Allen, Simpson, Logan, Todd and Monroe.

It is a privilege and a pleasure for us to assist in carrying the banner of Judge J. W. Henson to the success that surely awaits him in this race.

The family of Dr. B. F. DeWitt, who will soon leave for Ft. Benjamin Harrison, will move here this week from Rockport in order that Miss Margaret DeWitt, who is in school here, may finish.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR ROSS-VAUGHAN CO.

Proposed Sale of Stock By Ross Stopped—Action Was Unexpected.

The expected sequel to the resignation of J. M. Vaughn as manager and vice president of the Ross-Vaughn Tobacco Company, which was announced Wednesday in the Messenger, came Thursday when Mr. Vaughn filed suit against John Ross and the Ross-Vaughn Tobacco Company asking for an injunction to prevent Ross from disposing of 347 shares of stock held by Vaughn, but pledged as collateral to Ross on a note of $15,000, and for the appointment of a receiver to dispose of all the property of the company and distribute the proceeds in an equitable manner.

The petition, which is a very lengthy one, goes into the particulars of the formation of the Ross-Vaughn Tobacco Company and makes charges against the business integrity of Mr. Ross. H. E. Evans, one of the stockholders of the company, joins with Vaughn in the suit while A. J. McMullin, H. F. Coombs and Alton Haynes, also stockholders, are named with Mr. Ross as defendants in the action. The suit was filed by Capt. W. T. Ellis and Baskin & Vaughn, of Louisville.

Partnership Business.

It is claimed in the suit that Ross and Vaughn are practically the sole owners, and that the business of the company has been conducted upon the basis of a partnership, the three shares each, being held by McMullin, Haynes and Evans having been given them merely to comply with the State corporation laws.

The petition sets forth that the company is incorporated for $75,000, of which $25,000 was put in by Vaughn and $50,000 by Ross. The former holds 347 shares and the latter 541.

It is stated that prior to the consolidation of the plants operated by Vaughn and Ross separately that Vaughn was operating a tobacco factory at Tenth and Triplett and had, through his experience and skill in business and as a tobacco handler, built up a large trade. Ross was a tobacco dealer with offices in Liverpool. He bought his tobacco at the John Ross plant on Second and Pearl and resold it in London.—Owensboro Messenger.

WHEN SOUTHERN

WOMEN MURDER

Pointing to the humiliating fact that six men have been killed in New Orleans by women within the last 16 months, the Rev. A. J. Gearheard, pastor of a prominent church in the Crescent City, is moved to protest that murder seems to have become the fashion among women, since southern men, through a spirit of chivalry, refuse to punish them for their crimes.

Not one of the six women who took the life of a man for some cause, real or imaginary, is behind the prison bars.

Only once in Louisiana criminal history has a woman been convicted for the murder of a man. The lone victim of the law, Dora Murff, was sentenced in 1913 to five years in the penitentiary for complicity in the murder of Milton Dalahaye, her sweetheart, at Crowley, La., because he refused to marry her. Her stepfather, Alex Duval, for the same crime, was sentenced to imprisonment for life, and was recently denied a pardon.

This is the reason why there seems to be an awakening spirit of protest being heard throughout the south. It is the reason why the ministers in New Orleans, club women at meetings and students of sociology have aroused a storm of discussion.

The law does not respect the difference in sex. Murder is murder whenever committed, and the statutes, upon conviction, provide a fixed punishment.

That the woman may have cause for the crime, she can show this in court, but a recital of the facts in the six New Orleans murder cases, show that the women who are under indictment and the women acquitted will have some difficulty in convincing the general public of their right to kill, even if in several cases three juries have refused to convict.

Our finer senses are shocked when the murderer is a woman, but one feels inclined to ask with Rev. Gearheard, who has studied the criminal conditions of New Orleans closely, and who is a well known figure in the underworld districts "is the woman the more dangerous of the species?"

"What can we do?" asked the gentleman in a recent appeal to the New Orleans people. "Stop carrying pistols. Keep young girls from public dance halls. Teach young men the sacredness of womanhood. Quit rearing children who will rule or ruin. Put an end to the murder that is aimed at the unborn. Instill the truth of God's law into the hearts of women and men and teach them that "vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, and I will repay."

The murder record made during the last 16 months in New Orleans is not a very pleasant one to contemplate since the guilty go unpunished and crime continues to flourish.—[Commercial Appeal.]

COAL FAMINE IN FAYETTE FEARED

U. S. Asked to Take Hand; Operators Blame Germans For Scarcity.

Lexington, Ky.—Lexington coal consumers, business men and heads of local corporations affected by the coal situation met and sent a telegram to the President, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Coal Administrator H. A. Garfield, Governor Stanley and the Kentucky delegation in Congress calling attention to the serious outlook in this section of the State and urging prompt action in regard to the price of coal in the State and the closing of negotiations in regard to labor troubles.

The telegram was sent following a meeting of the Fayette County Council of National Defense, of which Dr. S. H. Halley is chairman. Map. E. S. Helburn, of Middlesboro, spoke from the operators' standpoint.

He charged the continued trouble in the coal fields to "German agitators with German gold in their pockets." He was answered by Attorney A. A. Babbitt, of the Kentucky Council of National Defense, who asserted the scarcity of coal is due to the policy of operators of running their mines two days a week and creating an artificial scarcity.

WANTS PAID MEN TO DO WORK OF VOLUNTEERS

Dupre Blames Them for Delay—Gillette Says "Deserving Democrats" Would Get Jobs.

Washington.—Well-paid employees of prominent men now giving their services to the Government at nominal pay, such as $1 a year, were urged on the House by Representative Dupre, of Louisiana.

"The greatest cause of delay in our war activities," he said, "is the avalanche of men who have descended upon Washington to do their bit free of charge. If you go down to see them on Thursday you learn that they have left town to return Tuesday, and if you go back on Tuesday you learn they have just gone out to lunch. If we had paid employees who were responsible to some one this condition would not exist."

Representative Gillette, of Massachusetts, defended the "dollar-a-year men," insisting that their positions probably would be filled by "deserving Democrats" if they were to retire.

KENTUCKIAN WINS FRENCH WAR CROSS

American Headquarters in France, —Brig. Gen. George B. Duncan and Maj. Campbell King are the first American officers to receive the War Cross in the French awards growing out of American participation in the recent Verdon offensive when they acted as observation officers in forward artillery posts. Whether the officers will be permitted to accept the decoration is not known.

The citation for Gen. Duncan reads:

"He assisted our forces under circumstances of extreme danger during a very violent bombardment at Verdun."

A piece of shrapnel struck the steel hat of the officer.

Major King also visited the forward dressing stations.

PATRIOTISM AND RELIGION.

Are religion and patriotism really one? Religion and patriotism are not one. The one is spiritual, the other material. There is no relation between them except that both relate to human brotherhood, but from opposite viewpoints and feelings. Patriotism is devotion to a part of mankind, in contradistinction to the rest; while religion is devotion to all mankind. Patriotism is love of our particular part of the world, in our own time; but religion is a love for the whole world and all beyond, for all time.—The Christian Herald.

HOW THE ROAD FUND

Is Handled In Woodford County, Kentucky.

C. F. Dunn, Sec'y-Mgr., Frankfort Chamber of Commerce.

Woodford county presents a good example of the proper method of handling road funds. The County Road Engineer, W. H. Edwards, Jr., during the year travels regularly over the entire road system of the county in a machine but in the months of December and January he makes a special tour of inspection in order to determine exactly what must be done on the roads and bridges during the coming year, and at the February term of court he makes his recommendations.

Woodford county ordinarily receives from ten to twelve thousand dollars State Aid. The court sets aside a sufficient amount to meet the State appropriation, all of which is expended on one or more inter-county-seat roads. The remainder is apportioned to the various parts of the county where it is most needed.

The road fund in Woodford county amounts to about forty thousand dollars per year and the Road Engineer makes his recommendations so as to distribute the entire amount. Mr. Edwards has been Road Engineer of Woodford county for twelve years and there is not a case on record where the recommendations he has made to the Fiscal Court have not been adopted.

It is noteworthy that the court appreciates the fact that he is an experienced road man and that his care should be entrusted the road affairs of his county. Another important feature is that the road fund is not apportioned equally to the magisterial districts—in fact no attention is paid to magisterial districts—but it is placed from year to year where it is most needed, the idea being to best serve the county.

It is conceded generally by the people of the State that Woodford county has about the best roads in the State. The above shows clearly how the road fund is handled and it would be well for some of the other counties of the State to pattern after the method of handling the road fund in Woodford county.

The Frankfort Chamber of Commerce is deeply interested in the road problem of this State. It is watching with keen interest the progress being made in the various counties and will from time to time make comment on the best method of handling the road affairs of the various counties.

HAROLD SEEING THINGS.

Harold Howard, one of the truthful and reliable men of our town, who lives just outside the city limits, says that one day last week while he was at work in his garden, he noticed a buzzard flying leisurely overhead. Very soon the bird swooped down within a few feet of where he was standing, when he observed that it was the noted "helled buzzard" that has been observed for the last twenty years. The buzzard had on the same old bell that was placed around its neck many years ago, but the clapper is missing.—Madisonville Hustler.

TWO STANDARD GRADES OF POTATOES RECOMMENDED

Washington, D. C.—Two standard grades for potatoes are recommended by the Food Administration and the Department of Agriculture. The necessity for their adoption is emphasized in a department statement because of the prospect for a large crop, the food supply situation, overtaxed transportation facilities and the ruling that Federal reserve banks may make loans against potatoes properly stored in approved warehouses. In the first grade the minimum diameter of the round variety is fixed at one and seven-eighths inches and of the long variety one and three-fourths inches. The minimum diameter of the second grade is one and one-half inches.

ARREST NINE SALOON MEN IN LOUISVILLE

Federal Authorities Charge Li- quor Sold Soldiers—Special Agents At Work.

The dragnet of the Federal authorities Sunday and Monday night caught nine retail liquor dealers who are engaged with selling liquor to United States soldiers, says the Courier-Journal.

Other warrants are said to be pending.

Two of the men, C. F. Larkin, proprietor of a saloon at the southwest corner of First and Green streets, and his bartender, Tilden Borders, were given an examining trial before United States Commissioner John P. Haswell in the customhouse. They were held to answer to the October Federal grand jury on bonds of $1,000 each, and were remanded to the Jefferson county jail when unable to make bond.

The other men arrested, their places of business are: William Bode, Preston and Chestnut streets; J. von Gries, Preston and Walnut streets; Patrick McCue and Edward Gharrity, 322 East Main street; Craig Benson, Eleventh street and Broadway; William B. Straley, Twelfth and Market streets; and Joseph Straley, Twelfth street and Broadway. They were arrested by Deputy United States Marshals Ellis Workman and J. R. Howell and Field Deputy Marshal W. P. Martin. The warrants were based on affidavits of Robert A. Hobson, a special agent of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, and Lieut. Harry Laird, of the 159th United States Infantry.

Denied Reduced Bond.

Larkin and Borders were represented in Commissioner Haswell's court by Attorneys Clem Huggins and Robert Hagan. The counsel made a strong plea for the reduction of the bond, which was denied by Judge Haswell.

Several soldiers testified concerning liquor purchases at various times. Much of the liquor, discovered by army officers, was introduced as evidence.

Second Lieut. Harry Laird was the principal witness. He has been conducting an investigation, as an officer of the provost guard, to determine the source of liquor supply for the soldiers. Lieut. Laird told of having purchased beer and whisky at the Larkin saloon as much as four weeks ago. He was "nodded," with another soldier, into a yard behind the saloon, he said, when he sought to get a drink.

Borders, Lieut. Laird testified, told him he fully understood the risk he was taking and the liability of a heavy penalty.

THE MISTAKEN IDEA.

Since the days of Bunker Hill and the revolution there has been a current theory among the American people that this is a nation of natural fighters. Military training has been regarded as the proper thing but not actually necessary.

We found this a mistake in the Spanish-American war. We will fight, proper cause being given, and fight with the last breath in our body, but it is just as necessary to train for war as it is to train for any other business.

It is estimated that it requires two years to fit a raw recruit in England for service at the front. If this is so with the Englishman it will require about the same time to train our American soldier as he should be trained.

It is not always the willingness that fits a soldier for the fight. Courage, ambition, energy and willingness to fight, form the foundation upon which the soldier is built, but it requires the training of the instruction camp that makes the effective unit when the call to the front is sounded.

Unskilled workmen usually blame their tools. The man who is well schooled at his trade has but few complaints to offer against the implements employed.

So it is with the well drilled recruit. We look at the boys, home from camp on a leave of absence, and can scarcely control our admiration for what has been accomplished in such a brief time. They walk with confidence, their figures are erect and distinguished, with that bearing of a soldier that can not be disguised and that can only be obtained by ample exercise, strict discipline, clean living and simple food. The boys who left us lacking the physical elements of the perfect man accomplish wonderful results in a few months of camp life.

It will be pointed out that our colonial forebears were not trained soldiers and that there were not many trained soldiers in the civil war. This may be true. Conditions then were different, and even at that time the influence of the West-Point graduate was distinctly felt. It was the school-soldier who accomplished the best results.

The old idea that all that is necessary is to draft a man, put a gun in his hands and send him to the front is all right in theory, but is all wrong in practice.

If we are to have a fighting force in France that will be heralded all over the world, as we know that it will be heralded, the men we send across the Atlantic must be well trained and fitted for the fight.—[Commercial Appeal.]

REPAIR WORN MACHINERY

Scarcity of Implements Must Be Met by Putting Old Ones Into Shape For Work.

The great outcry for farm production and the scarcity of machinery points to the need of some way to repair a great many implements that are now useless largely because of the neglect with which they have been treated, says the United States Department of Agriculture, which adds that the machinery manufacturers and their local sales agents should help to perform this repair service.

Throughout the country there are thousands of binders, mowers, and other farm machines rusting in the fence corners, and many of these might be made available for further valuable service. The manufacturers of farm machinery are admittedly unable to furnish all the new machines required and are paying for full-page advertisements to influence governmental authorities to insure them necessary raw materials and transportation in competition with the demand for machines of war.

The railroads of the country, according to one of their officials, are being compelled in the present emergency to rescue practically every scrap locomotive from the old-iron graveyards and rebuild them for active service. A similar plan should be adopted says the department for the reclamation of this cast-off farm equipment through the agency of central repair shops where the work could be done. Many of the machines might be made available for further service with repairs of comparatively small cost.

Added to the almost sinful carelessness of some farmers there has been the attitude on the part of farm machinery manufacturers in years past to favor the abandonment of worn and disabled machines in order to sell new ones; but now the time has arrived when it is difficult to supply the market with the necessary new machinery. The department suggests that representatives of the manufacturers on the one hand and of the farmers—such as farm bureau agents or county agents—on the other hand should get together to establish the necessary farm machinery repair stations in convenient localities.

GANDER IS ENTERPRISING.

Henry Henderson, the well known North Christian farmer, was in the city this week, and reports that he has a gander who is not only the proud father, but the proud mother of eight promising goslings. This, according to Mr. Henderson, is the old gander's third offense. For three years he has hatched and brooded and brought through to goosehood a varying number of goslings. His plan of procedure is to wait until Mrs. Goose has been "set" upon the eggs, when he orders her place, bearing all the burdens and pains of motherhood until the goslings are duly hatched. During their early age he looks after them with solicitude of a mother goose, and admonishes them in many a gentle cluck that they must not go near the water. You might think this old gander is sly. If he is, he is Henry Henderson's like. "Taint none of ourn."—Hopkinsville, New Era.

AMERICAN FLAG SEEN IN HEAVENS FOR 5 MINUTES

An American flag, almost perfect as to detail, could be seen in the heavens at sundown last night from 6:08 o'clock until 6:13 o'clock. Stripes of fleecy white clouds formed the stripes of white, the sky the field of blue and the sun, tint provided the necessary red. Stars were plainly visible in the part of the flag where they should have been.—St. Louis Republic, Sept. 10.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE.

Bedford, Ind.—George Reed, a young soldier from this city, has telegraphed his uncle, Frank Reed, agent for the American Express Company here, that he had been wounded by a bursting shell while on an ambulance wagon and was on his way home from somewhere in France. The message stated the driver by his side was killed.

STOP CRYING ABOUT THE WAR!

Many mothers are making matters much worse by weeping day in and day out about their sons. War is bad enough without adding any extra sorrow before anything has actually happened. Anna Steese Richardson quotes in the October Woman's Home Companion from a letter written to her. The writer of the letter says:

"Like most mothers who have given sons to their country, I go out when I can to divert my thoughts. And what do I hear? A friend inquires whether I have heard from my boy and adds, 'Well, I never expected to see the time that I would be glad my three children are girls, but I am now.' My next hostess comments on the sadness of our finest young men being sacrificed!"

"At prayer meeting last night, the leader, in the voice usually reserved for funerals, spoke of our boys at the front, and was followed by another speaker who solemnly announced the well-authenticated rumor that our boys are taking their coffins with them to France! Next a woman related with harrowing details how her father went to the Civil War, never to return, often stopping to regain her self-control. And the meeting closed with the most melancholy hymn in the book. I feel as if I never want to go to prayer meeting again."

JUDGE COURT OF APPEALS.

We are authorized to announce
HON. J. W. HENSON, of Henderson, a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from the Second Appellate District (subject to the action of the Democratic party).

"HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR."

In its last week's issue the Hartford Republican said:

"We overheard a rather bright looking fellow, some 25 or 26 years old say the other day that his Democratic papers said so much about voting for Woodrow Wilson and peace, and upon top of all that he heard Big Ollie in his plea for Woodrow, just before the election say 'no mother could ever point her bony finger at Woodrow Wilson and say 'You sent my boy to war and to death, &c.' Yes, he said, I heard so much of it I voted that way and now my good old mother is still living and I must leave Saturday for the army camp, for I am caught in the first draft."

We wonder if there is a mother in this good land of our who is so narrow in her views regarding this great world conflict as to "point her finger at Mr. Wilson" and accuse him of sending her boy to war.

Mr. Wilson had about as much to do with the United States severing diplomatic relations with Germany and ultimately declaring war with her as the editor of The Herald. His hands were tied unless the Senate and Congress backed him up.
This they did with more than seventy Republican members voting for war.

The most prominent Republicans
in the party—Representative Kahn, for instance, says: "There are many men in various sections of the country who are sowing seeds of sedition and treason. They misrepres-ent the attitude of the Government in this war. * * * To me this war is being fought by this country for a great principle, the right to sail the seas untrammelled."

The President following the traditions of his nation repeatedly protested and objected to the attitude of the German government, and every protest had been treated with scorn, derision and contempt and the German government on January 31, 1917, informed the President that the very next day German submarines would sink every American ship found in certain waters of the Atlantic. To have accepted that doctrine would have meant the surrender of every American sovereignty."

Yet the Republican, we judge from the interview with the "young man who voted for Wilson," would have every mother believe and hold President Wilson individually responsible for her boy having to go to war. We can't quite understand why the Republican would, in this time of world struggle for supremacy, when the honor of our own beloved country is at stake, print just such stuff, unless it thought it would be good ammution to use in the local campaign. It may be, but we can't believe it is,

and to say the least, is not conducive to patriotism at this time.

JUDGE HENSON A CANDIDATE.

In this issue of The Herald former Circuit Judge J. W. Henson, of Henderson, is announced as a candidate for Appellate Judge from this district. Being a true-blue Democrat, he submits his claims subject to the will of the voters of the Democratic party at the coming August primary election.

Judge Henson is not a stranger
here as he presided over our Circuit Court as Special Judge one term and made a very favorable impression upon lawyers, litigants and spectators. He is an able, experienced jurist, and indefatigable worker, a citizen of the highest character and standing, and therefore enters the race with a host of admiring and confiding friends proclaiming his virtues and peculiar fitness for the duties of this high office.

Judge Henson is a splendid campaigner and should be selected as the Democratic nominee, his election is assured, and he will perform the responsible duties of Appellate Judge faithfully, efficiently and impartially.

One couple killed and another couple seriously wounded as the result of being hit by a switch engine near Louisville. The Louisville papers say this accident was caused by the crossing being obscured in some way, but these "wee sma' hours"
parties at a roadhouse, where intoxicated of all kinds are dispensed, are not conducive to longevity, when mixed with "benzine huggies," even though there are no railroads in sight. And to one of these road-houses is where the occupants of the car had been when hit by the train.

The Ohio County Fair opens today, and prospects are flattering for one of the most successful meets in the history of the organization. The management has added to the list of premiums as well as enlarged the list of exhibits. This is Ohio county's big farm products show and the attractiveness of the premiums offered for various things from the farm insure a good display of such.

The price of gasoline has jumped to $1 per gallon at Havana, and more than a thousand automobiles have been forced into retirement. Verily joy riding in the Cuban city is anything but delightful, when the chief product of John D.'s organization is bringing as much, almost, as one of the products that made Kentucky famous.

We heard a man say the other day that he spent a month on the M. H.
& E. recently. We asked him where he went, and he said to Madisonville.
We have never been to this city over "our fast line," but we know one can spend two weeks between here and Moorman, and that is only about half way.

The Madisonville Hustler says that Madisonville can boast of the most vicious mosquitoes on earth. Well, if they are any more vicious than these hungry Rough river rascals around here, they certainly should be caged.

Writing on a Moving Train.

Writing legibly on a fast moving train is difficult to a person unaccustomed to do it. The railroad conductor knows the trick of it and manages to get along quite satisfactorily. He prefers to write in a standing position and holds his right elbow firmly against his side. The reason for this is that in a sitting posture there is too much lateral movement in the trunk of the body, while in a standing position this is more easily controlled.

When the arm swings freely, as in ordinary writing, several joints of the body are affected in the process, each of which is capable of its own motion.
Holding the elbow against one's ribs breaks those motion tendencies, except that of the wrist, which movement is necessary in writing, and thus the pencil or pen is more easily controlled.

MR. BLANKENSHIP AND
THE EXEMPTION BOARD

The Hartford Republican has been publishing the fact recently that Mr.
Claude Blankenship, a member of the local exemption board, had repeatedly tendered his resignation to Gov.
Stanley and that his request to be relieved from duty on that board had been ignored by the Governor.

We were always of the opinion that Mr. Blankenship would have been relieved had he tendered his resignation at the proper time, as members of local boards all over the State had been relieved, and we did not believe Mr. Blankenship would have been made an exception.

The following letter from Governor Stanley, without further comment, is self-explanatory:

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
Frankfort.

September 18, 1917.

Dear Sir:—In answer to your letter of the 14th inst., beg to advise that I have heretofore never received a notice from Mr. Blankenship tendering his resignation. I received this morning a letter from Mr. Blankenship tendering his resignation, and stating that he was not physically able to discharge the duties required of him, and also enclosing certificates from Dr. A. B. Riley and Dr.
Willard Lake stating that he is not physically able to discharge his duties. Upon these grounds, I have wired the Provost Marshal General requesting that he have the President relieve Mr. Blankenship from further duties on the Board, and to appoint his successor. As soon as the Local Boards had begun their examinations and the task of selecting the men physically qualified for military service, the President refused to accept any resignations from Local Boards except in extreme cases.

Yours very truly,
A. O. STANLEY,
Governor of Kentucky.

OLD HORSES.

A news item says that a horse thirty-four years old, believed to have been the oldest horse in the country, died at Grandview, Ind., recently.

He may have been the oldest horse that died, but we know of one that is thirty, or nearing that age, in Graves county, that pulled a plow
this summer, worked to the wagon, buggy, etc., and bids fair to live
many years yet.

This horse belonged to the editor's mother when the writer was a child going to his first school.

Another thing that brought the memory of this old family horse to our mind so forcibly was the fact that his present owner, who used him to the plow this year is 85 years old or more.

Conserve the Feed
But Don't Stint the Pigs

The profit of the average farm hog can be greatly increased. The average farmer does not give his hogs enough attention. Many farmers neglect the hog to the advantage of the horse and cow, while at the same time the hog will pay many times
more profit than these other animals.

The farmer needs better stock and he needs to apply better and more efficient methods in feeding and caring for animals.

Conserve the feed but don't stint the pigs. It is false economy to do so. Every pig represents a certain investment. In order to make the most of the investment give them a chance.

You will not obtain the maximum results unless you use our Liquid Stock Feed.

Diphtheria Germs.

Diphtheria germs multiply so rapidly that in the course of twenty-four hours there may be many millions. Meanwhile they are producing diphtheria toxin, one of the most powerful poisons known, which is absorbed by the body and causes the general symptoms of the disease.

The germs enter the body through the mouth or nose. They may be transferred by kissing, coughing or sneezing, or they may be transferred to the lips by the use of the common drinking cup or other utensil or by fingers soiled by touching some object which an infected person has just used.

Had to Swallow Many Things.

An amusing anecdote is related of the late Hungarian statesman Tisza, who when one day dining at the Hofburg with the Austrian emperor placed a large pear upon his plate at dessert. The emperor remarked to his minister that cold fruit after a hot dinner was injurious to the digestion. Tisza replied, "The stomach of a Hungarian prince, your majesty, is obliged to be a strong one."

After the Dinner.

"I ate next to a red headed woman," said the fresh young man after the dinner party.

"And I ate next to nothing," replied the woman alluded to, who happened to be within hearing.—Florida Times-Union.

Baltimore, Md.—Gotthold Prusse, one of the designers of the German merchant submarine Deutschland, who came to Baltimore on the first voyage of that craft, committed suicide in the city jail by hanging.

GASOLINE $1 GALLON IN HAVANA; AUTOS RETIRE

Havana.—More than a thousand automobiles in Havana have been forced into retirement by the action of retail gasoline dealers in jumping the price from 47 cents a gallon to $1 and in some instances to $1.20.

It was intimated the supply is adequate for all needs and that the action of retailers is unjustified and that prosecutions will follow if they persist in their excessive demands.

BURIED TREASURES

Valuable Prizes That May Be Had For the Mere Asking.

UNCLE SAM THE CUSTODIAN.

He Can Tell You Many Methods by Which Big Money May Be Made, and He Is Not Only Willing But Anxious to Give You This Information.

"Scattered through my reports on agriculture," says Uncle Sam, "are hundreds of ideas for making money. I have heard of men who have spent huge sums in fitting out expeditions to recover covered or sunken treasure. If they would only dig up the treasures that lie buried in the millions and millions of bags that I have written on soil improvement, on utilizing waste woods and stumps, on growing new, valuable fruits that even Burbank never dreamed of, on preserving canned vegetables from spoiling and on converting anything that grows into a salable product!

"If the farmers would only realize that if all the knowledge that I have gained and that I am ready to impart free of charge were to be applied by the farms of the country the value of their crops would be increased $10,000,000 for each growing day in the year.

"A fortune can be made in this country by growing such medicinal plants as belladonna, Japanese mint (from which menthol is obtained), digitalis (prescribed by physicians for heart trouble) and a hundred others. I am experimenting with drug plants in Virginia, in Maryland and in the upper Mississippi valley, so that I know just what the cost of production and marketing should be. Why doesn't some one write to me about this?

"Most of our red pepper and paprika is imported. In a country with such a varied soil and climate as ours why can't we raise our own red pepper? I asked myself that question some years ago. Now, I can indicate very clearly how paprika can be successfully grown here. Why not take the trouble to read my Department Bulletin No. 43 on the subject and find out whether it would not pay you to become a paprika grower?

"Man alive, I could string the list of chances out until you would be weary of reading it.

"Four years ago I began an investigation to determine if there were not some way of making pure apple cider that would endure transportation without the use of preservatives. I found that if the cider is frozen, crushed and whirled in a centrifugal machine it can be concentrated for less than 20 cents a gallon and that the finished product can be transported to market without the use of preservatives. One plant has been erected to make use of this success. Why are there not more such plants?

"I have chemically studied eggs which are null to eat, and I am convinced that denatured egg yolk can be used in tanning without injuring leather. Why am I not overwhelmed with an avalanche of letters from tanners imploring me to tell them about my results?

"Two years ago I began an investigation of enameled cooking utensils in the bureau of chemistry. I have cooked all kinds of foods in enameled ware to discover what kind of enamel is least affected by the food and what kind is therefore the safest to use. The man who first conscientiously carries out in actual practice the scientific procedure that I have evolved ought to die rich. Who is he?

"I wonder who will be the first to take advantage of an investigation that I am now conducting to determine why wagon and hayrack covers mildew; who will learn from me how a book-binder's leather can be made that will not deteriorate; who will introduce my economical methods of making potato starch; who will buy the waste yeast of breweries and convert it into a fattening cattle food in a way that I will explain; who will build a machine that I have designed for pecking cardines in cans efficiently and cheaply, and who will profit by the study of coffee roasting that I have made?

"Where is the Cortez who will conquer the south with my methods of economically utilizing the long leaf yellow pine? Where are the Balboas and Pizarros whom I am ready to arm so that they may triumph in the art of paper making?

"I must stop here simply to catch my breath and not because I could not recite hundreds of business opportunities, hundreds of processes that I am ready to disclose to any American citizen, whether he be a manufacturer or a farmer.

"And Americans, supposed to be the most agile minded, the most astute people in the world, say they haven't a chance!"—Waldemar Kaempfert in McClure's Magazine.

PERIL OF COAST EROSION.

The Ceaseless Warfare Waged by the Sea Against the Land.

All over the world, in America as well as in the eastern hemisphere, is the sea waging a ceaseless warfare against the land. So serious is the danger of coast erosions round the British Isles that people are asking whether England is not slowly but surely disappearing.

Lowestoft has been sorely hit by the merciless waves which are steadily advancing. Within the last few years the east coast town has spent considerably more than £60,000 in combating the sea, which means a new promenade, groynes, breakwaters, piles and huge cement structures. Only a few years since tremendous damage was caused to these then new structures by a series of gales which wrecked part of the promenade, tore down the piles and breakwaters and made a scrap heap of the cemented parts.

Cromer, too, has suffered terribly from the sea's advancement. Not so long ago it cost this delightful east coast town more than £45,000 to make good the damage.

During less than fifty years it is roughly computed that England must have lost more than 50,000 acres of land by sea incursions. The battle against nature still goes on. But it must be remembered that, while in some places the waters are advancing, in other spots the sea is retreating. But the balance is said to be not altogether in favor of the latter, and new methods may have to be devised to meet and fight the peril.—London Mail.

PIKEMEN IN BATTLE.

The Old Greek Phalanx Was Like a Mass of Live Barbed Wire.

It is a long reach back from modern war methods and big guns to the days of the pike and the battleaxe. But in its time the pike did deadly work and used in the phalanx was a terrible weapon.

A phalanx in the military affairs of Greece was a square battalion or body of soldiers formed in ranks and files compact and deep, with their shields joined and pikes crossing each other so as to render it almost impossible to break it. At first the phalanx consisted of 4,000 men, but this number was afterward doubled by Philip of Macedonia, and the double phalanx is hence often called the Macedonian phalanx. Polybius describes it thus:

"It was a square of pikemen, consisting of sixteen in flank and 500 in front. The soldiers stood so close together that the pikes of the fifth rank extended three feet beyond the front. The rest, whose pikes were not serviceable owing to their distance from the front, crouched them upon the shoulders of those who stood before them and, so locking them together in file, pressed forward to support and push on the former rank, by which means the assault was rendered more violent and irresistible." The spears of these behind also stopped the missiles of the enemy. Each man's pike was twenty-three feet long. A grand phalanx consisted of 16,384 men.

An Equally Extensive View.

A literal interpretation of a commonplace remark is sometimes amusing. In "Midsummer Motoring in Europe" De Courcy W. Thom tells of an old traveler who said to a very small boy then making his first voyage, who had climbed upon the hullwark and was gazing across the ocean to the far horizon: "My boy, did you ever before see such a glorious stretch of ocean—as far as you can see, only ocean?"

"Yes," answered the boy.
"Hardly," said the man. "Where do you think you saw it?"
"On the other side of the ship," replied the youngster.

The Ancient Scepter.

The Hebrew word translated as "scepter" originally meant a rod or a staff and was the wand of a ruler. It was thence applied to the shepherd's crook (Leviticus xxvii, 32; Micah vii, 14).

It may be inferred that the scepter of early Hebrew times was made of wood. The scepter of the Persian monarch is described as "golden"—that is, probably of massive gold (Esther iv, 11).

Ancient Embroidery.

In Exodus the "embroiderer" is contrasted with the " cunning workman." The art of embroidery by the loom was extensively practiced by the ancients of antiquity. The Egyptians and Babylonians were noted for it. Embroidery with the needle was a Phrygian invention of a later date.

Clearly Explained.

"Please tell me, professor, what is a periphrasis?"
"Madam, it is simply a circumlocutory and pleonastic cycle of oratorical sonorosity, circumscribing an atom of ideality lost in a verbal profundity."
"Thank you, sir."

Study the Columbus Fifth Wheel. Only on International Wagons.

We can demonstrate how the Columbus fifth wheel makes the best wagon still better. Look over this strong new feature, which you will find only on International wagons.

The famous fifth wheel on the Columbus, made of strong, malleable iron, with large wearing surfaces, does these things: It distributes the strain on the front bolster and sandboard; overcomes pitching of bolster so preventing bending or breaking of the king bolt; does away with pulling up of front bolster and bending of circle iron.

The top plates of the fifth wheel are widest, so the lower plates are protected and no dirt gets in between. The more you study the merits of this feature, the more you will appreciate its importance.
